

Eco-Educational Hub

August 11, 2026 • vajiramandravi.com

Eco-Educational Hub Latest News

Recently, the Union Minister of State for Science and Technology dedicated the first-of-its-kind eco-educational hub 'Prakriti Gyan Dham'.

About Eco-Educational Hub

- It is developed by the CSIR-National Botanical Research Institute (CSIR-NBRI).
- It provides a direct interface between scientific knowledge and public engagement, by making it accessible through experiential and interactive learning.
- Features of the Eco-Educational Hub
 - PAaVan Path (Plants and Associated Vegetations for Appreciating Nature): It is an interpretive heritage trail. The trail takes visitors through curated plant collections representing diverse ecological regions and associated vegetation.
 - Vibhav Enclave: It is a Threatened Plants of India Garden provides a dedicated space for rare, endangered and threatened plant species

- It promotes awareness about biodiversity loss, habitat degradation, climate change and the need to conserve plant genetic resources.
- Bhairav Enclave: State Plants of India Garden brings together officially designated State Plants of States and Union Territories, presenting their ecological, cultural and symbolic significance.

Source: PIB

Source: <https://vajiramandravi.com/current-affairs/eco-educational-hub/>

© Vajiram & Ravi. For personal use only.