If vacancies exist, UPSC releases an updated list recommending candidates from the reserve list. In 2023, UPSC released a supplementary list after the main list to fill remaining posts. The same may happen for CSE 2024, depending on available vacancies. These additional appointments are announced separately through the UPSC or DoPT websites.

If your name appears in the reserve list:

- Keep all certificates and documents updated and ready.
- Check UPSC and DoPT websites regularly for updates.
- Maintain contact with your registered email ID and mobile number.
- Be patient, as appointments from the reserve list depend on future vacancies.

If you are not included in either list, focus on preparing for the next attempt with a detailed analysis of your previous performance.

Why Does UPSC Release a Reserve List?

UPSC maintains a reserve list every year to fill vacancies that remain open after the main result. There are several reasons for this:

1. Some selected candidates do not join the service.
2. A few candidates withdraw after getting other job offers.
3. Certain candidates fail to submit required documents or certificates.
4. Vacancies arise due to administrative adjustments or resignation of candidates.
