IAS Neha Byadwal Strategy

IAS Neha Byadwal has secured AIR 569 in the UPSC CSE Exam 2023 which showed her disciplined preparation and strategic approach. She has achieved success in her fifth attempt. All the other four attempts played a major role in evolving her UPSC Strategy by teaching her a critical lesson that helped in final success. The IAS Neha Byadwal Strategy includes the below mentioned core pillars:

- Self-Awareness and Honest Assessment: Neha emphasizes the importance of being honest with oneself. She admits that in her first attempt, she did not put in the required effort. From her second attempt onward, she conducted self-assessments after each failure and adapted her approach based on performance gaps.
- Balanced Focus on Prelims and Mains: After missing the prelims in her second attempt and the mains in her third, Neha realized the importance of treating each stage of the exam with equal seriousness. She focused on cracking the Prelims pattern while simultaneously building her Mains answer-writing skills.
- Answer Writing Practice with Time Management: Time-bound answer writing was a game-changer. With her brother's help, she simulated exam-like conditions at home. She trained herself to complete full-length Mains papers within the given time frame and improved speed and content precision.
- Strong CSAT Preparation through Basics: Her early math struggles and later SSC Exam preparation with her cousins, CSAT never became a hurdle for her. She focused on fundamentals and problem-solving speed to comfortably clear this often-neglected paper.
- Mock Interviews with Family Support: Interview preparation involved regular mock sessions conducted by family members. This personalized setup helped her build confidence, refine her speaking skills, and anticipate potential questions from the interview board.
